Dismissal of Cossatot River Suit Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. Atty. W. H. Dillahunty filed a motion Thursday seeking dismissal of a suit that asks for an injunction to halt construction of Gillham Dam on the Cossatot River.

The motion, filed on behalf of the defendants in the suit, contends that the suit should have been filed at Fort Smith instead of Little Rock. Fort Smith is headquarters for the Western Judicial District and Little Rock is headquarters for the Eastern Judicial District.

The suit was filed by the Environmental Defense Fund, The Ozark Society, the Arkansas Audubon Society, the Arkansas Ecology Center, Pratt Remmel Jr. of Little Rock, executive director of the Ecology Center, and Russell Haprer, who owns land on both sides of the river below the dam site. They want the river kept in its free-flowing state.

The defendants are the Army Engineers, Gen. Frederick B. Clarke, chief of the Army Engineers, and Stanley R. Resor, secretary of the Army.

Building GOP, Not State, Says Bumpers

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP) — Dale Bumpers, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, said Thursday that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller is dedicated to the building of the Republican party and not the state.

Bumpers, who faces Rockefeller and American party candidate Walter Carruth in the Nov. 3 general election, said that in contrast he had succeeded in getting the Democrats together since the primary. He said his goal now was to get the state together.

Bumpers made the remarks at a four-county rally which attracted about 500 persons.

The candidate reiterated his charge that Arkansas could not move forward until there is a change in the governor's office and that a "crisis in confidence" had developed during Rockefeller's administration.

Earlier Thursday at Heber Springs, Bumpers told about 275 persons at a $5-a-plate fish fry that every child should have the opportunity to attend vocational-technical schools.

He said young people in the state supported him because he was working toward unity, which he said gave the young people more reason to remain in Arkansas.

U.S. Embassy officials requested permission to meet with the captives in accordance with the U.S.-Soviet consular agreement, which gives U.S. officials the right of access to American citizens held in the Soviet Union within three days of their detention.

The plane landed at the Armenian town of Leninakan, and the embassy's consular officer, Peter B. Swiers, said he was ready to fly there or to any other designated place.

Flying a six-passenger Seminole U8 plane, Maj. Russell apparently lost his way in bad weather over the mountains of eastern Turkey and crossed the heavily fortified Turkish-Soviet border. The two generals were inspecting Turkish military units equipped with American weapons, and their destination was Kars, 40 miles from the Soviet frontier.

leftists were obviously referring to U.S. copper companies and other foreign interests whose holdings Allende has pledged to nationalize.

The army commander in chief, Maj. Gen. Rene Schneider, was reported in critical condition late Thursday and another operation was performed.

Four or five men in three cars blocked Schneider's limousine at a busy intersection Thursday morning, knocked out the rear windows with the butts of their pistols, and fired about eight shots at close range. The 57-year-old general was hit in the chest, neck and arm, and one bullet grazed his heart and a lung.

Schneider's pulse had stopped by the time he was taken to a military hospital, and emergency open-heart massage was used to revive him. During the night his condition worsened, and further surgery was ordered.

Allende called at the hospital and then met with outgoing President Eduardo Frei. Frei declared a state of emergency, and 10,000 soldiers and police spread out over Santiago looking for the attackers.

All armed forces units, the national police and plainclothes investigative units were placed on "first grade" alert, the highest level of readiness.

Santiago was put under curfew from 1:30 a.m. to 6 a.m.

Discusses Narcotics

PAUL R. RAMSEY

Paul R. Ramsey, Educational Assistant with the Christian Civic Foundation of Arkansas, Inc., in cooperation with the State Dept. of Education and Red River Vocational Technical School, presented to the students at the school a program on Alcohol and Narcotics and its dangers.

Mr. Ramsey's experience with the Arkansas State Police as Public Information Officer and with the Criminal Investigation Division at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as well as special institute training in the alcohol-narcotics field at Baylor University and other colleges make him well qualified in these areas.

In addition to addressing the group, Mr. Ramsey presented a film calling attention to the magnitude of the alcohol-narcotics problem. Much interest was shown in a display of the various types of stimulants and depresants most commonly used today.

Simulated Riot Is Quelled

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania state troopers corralled an angry crowd, flushed snipers and grabbed prisoners —in drills simulating "an incident we may actually encounter."

The opposition was another force of troopers.

"Through this type of training we are ready to meet new challenges and can be prepared for things that can very well happen," said Lt Salvador Rodriguez as his Troop E skirmished in a light rain recently at nearby Conneaut Lake Park.

and population expansion in Asia. In the mid 1960s, food production was increasing at an annual rate of 1.6 per cent while the population increased by 2½ per cent a year. New land to raise more crops was rapidly diminishing. Widespread famines were predicted.

Today, however, food production is increasing at 3 to 5 per cent a year while the birth rate remains nearly the same.

But the increasing amount of food has also brought about social unrest. Farmers have doubled, tripled and, in some cases, quadrupled their income. The gap between rich and poor is in some instances widening.

The social unrest brought about by the new grains is just beginning to manifest itself. It could prompt widespread land reforms throughout Asia and the underdeveloped nations.

And the political consequences are being felt. Ceylon Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake was this year ousted partly because he did not equitably distribute new shipments of super grains. Field Marshal Mohammed Ayub Khan was toppled as the president of Pakistan in part because of the inability of East Pakistan to grow the new grains.

Ferdinand E. Marcos became the first Philippine president ever to win re-election in 1969, and one of his three campaign pledges was to develop the "miracle rice."

The social unrest has prompted some persons to criticize the Green Revolution, charging it has caused more problems than it has solved.

Many, though, do not view the social problems as insurmountable. Instead, they see the new grains as a means of eliminating widespread starvation in underdeveloped nations.

But experts warn that the new grains have only delayed from 10 to 20 years the food problems facing the world if the population continues to increase at its present rate.

"The new seeds are not a panacea, not a solution to the population problem," says Brown.

Can't Pin Philosophy, Declares WR

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday night that the political philosophy of Dale Bumpers, his Democratic opponent, is difficult to pin down.

"I come here tonight a slightly confused man," Rockefeller told about 600 persons. "The only way you can find out about my opponent is to do research.

"Who is he? What does he stand for? We have never heard him come out with a strong position on what his political philosophy is."

Rockefeller held up some "fact sheets" about his administration and said, "After reading these you know you have a man to vote for whether you know him or not. I know him and I'm going to vote for him."

"My opponent says he wants to identify problems," Rockefeller said. "Jeepers, creepers the problems are here. What you and I know is not that we have problems, but are we going to solve the problems."

sis for improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Ziegler said Nixon and Gromyko talked about American-Soviet relations, the broad topic of European security including the status of Berlin, the strategic arms limitation talks between the two nations, the continuing Mideast crisis and the Vietnam war.

Gromyko, in a statement later, described his meeting with Nixon as a very interesting one.

"I would like to express hope that the meeting and the discussion will be of positive significance for the development and improvement of Soviet-American relations," Gromyko said.

He concluded the stakes in the rivalry are so great the two nations must find ways to live together on the same planet without unleashing a nuclear holocaust.

crashed into the side of a mountain.

A second Martin 404 carrying the other half of the Wichita State team to Logan, Utah, was more than 5,000 pounds lighter, took another route and made it safely over the Rockies.

These comparisons emerged from two days of testimony into the crash of the Wichita State charter plane. A board of inquiry of the National Transportation Safety Board hoped to finish taking testimony today. Ten witnesses remained to be called.

Leland T. Everett, pilot of the plane which made it to Utah, testified Thursday his Martin 404 weighed 43,000 pounds compared with the 48,000-plus attributed by the FAA to the plane which crashed. He said he chose a northern route because it provided "more back doors," or avenues to take across the Continental Divide.

"Let's Talk About The Issues"

PRISONERS REGULARLY ESCAPE FROM ARKANSAS' PRISONS

We must reform our prison system instead of just talking about it, and provide the prisoners the opportunity for rehabilitation.

Better management of farm land owned by our prisons will provide yields comparable to farms in the same area, and will help finance needed improvements.

At the same time, prison reform means proper security so prisoners can't walk off when they're ready. We need a more effective and efficient parole and probation system. A parole should be granted only after a thorough and careful weighing of all factors, including consultation with local authorities and sentencing courts.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

STINGY HUSBAND IS FATE WORSE THAN DEBT

Dear Helen:

I have been married five years, have two darling toddlers and a husband who is driving me crazy.

He claims to be a "saver" but "miser" is a better word. Every time I need something for the house or family I get the third degree: Is it on sale? Can we do without it? What have we done to deserve it? When I have bought items the kids needed badly (out of the grocery money), he has made me take them back. One day I bought some material to make myself a pair of slacks. I got called filthy names. Thank goodness I have a girl friend who gives me hand-me-downs. It's been "Wear out what you've got" ever since we were married!

He does the housework sometimes – not to be nice but because I "can't do it right." When he comes home he inspects the house -- his precious belongings – to see if the kids or I have harmed them. If the children accidentally break something they get beaten. I can't protect them by hiding the breakage. He even counts our glasses.

He belittles me in front of friends, never shows affection – says he's too old for love, though he's under 40. I'm 29. He hates to go out, mainly, because of the expense, and we have to refuse invitations because I couldn't "pay back." He doesn't like people – even himself. A favorite saying of his is, "I'll sure be glad when I'm dead and gone from this filthy, cheating world." He thinks everyone is out to get him.

Really, Helen, we have a lovely home, nice kids, a moderate income, and I try to be a good wife. I enjoy people and like to laugh, but there's no laughter for the children and I when he's home.

Even our priest said I should walk out on him to keep my sanity and save the children, but I consider marriage vows are forever. He wouldn't go to a counselor because it costs money.

Your advice will be most welcomed – so long as it's free. I want to keep the family together. But I may go crazy trying. – ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK

Dear ANW:

Your family may be living under one roof, but they're NOT together! Nor is a marriage "forever" even though you don't separate physically.

The "love, honor and cherish" part of your vows has already been strained to the breaking point. Perhaps the threat of a total break might bring your husband to the professional help he needs. If not, I'd suggest you follow your priest's advice. – H.

Dear Helen:

When I was 18, I ran away from home and got involved with Bill, a man twice my age. We had two children, but he left me before the second was born.

I vowed I was through with men, but then I met Brian, and he convinced me to change my mind. We've been happily married for over a year. The kids call him Dad and love him as much as I do.

But a month ago their real father came back into the picture. He has never given us any support – not even his name. But now he claims the children. We were about to start adoption proceedings when this happened. Brian wants to be their real Dad all the way. Bill says "No!"

I think Bill might fade away if we offered him a big sum of money, but must we "buy" my children back from a man who never wanted them? – N.P.

Dear N.:

A small fee to a good lawyer can save you paying a large sum to a scoundrel. Call one right away! – H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Desi Arnaz, cohost for a week on the syndicated "Mike Douglas Show," was explaining recently about his casting choices for a network series, "The Mothers-in-Law," and may have put his finger on a spot afflicting many of this season's new shows.

"You have to like the people if you are going to have them in your home every week," explained Arnaz. "They don't have to be the greatest actors in the world, they don't have to be marvelous. They just have to be people you like—there must be some feeling."

On the networks' Thursday night schedule, some stars such as Jim Nabors and Raymond Burr won their welcome in earlier series and their new series do well. Then there is also Vince Edwards, once the hero of "Ben Casey," but whose new "Matt Lincoln" is near the bottom of the Nielsen list.

In the most recent episode, the Edwards character in the ABC series was more personally involved than is usual. A former fiancee lost her sight in a plane crash. Matt Lincoln's assignment is to make her accept her condition and learn to live with it.

Dr. Lincoln, a psychiatrist, takes a passive role and most of the series' drama is played out by the guest star.

By contrast, another TV doctor, Marcus Welby, becomes more involved with his patients and, hence, more identifiable.

And there is "The Odd Couple," later in the evening on ABC, which may be a disappointment to its network. It is a funny series although based on a single idea: the conflict between a sloppy man and a fussbudget sharing an apartment.

In Thursday night's show, Oscar, the slob, got so fed up with Felix's fuming over disorder that he tossed him out of the apartment. Felix moved in with married friends—and drove them up the wall, too.

The mess that Oscar makes and the Nervous Nellie attitudes of Felix—may not be as amusing to a housewife as they are to a male producer or writer. Jack Klugman and Tony Randall handle their roles beautifully, but the question, suggested by Arnaz, is whether either character is likeable enough to be welcome as a weekly guest.

In connection with this quality of likability, NBC's Audience Research Department recently asked 2,000 persons about "performer popularity." And the most popular television personalities on the list of more than 1,000 lovable good guys—Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Flip Wilson, Walter Brennan and Robert Young.

Hope Travels to Magnolia Friday Night

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Tonight the Hope Bobcats travel to Magnolia for a 7:30 p.m. kickoff in a game to see who has the most pride to come back after last weeks losses.

This is Magnolia's homecoming and they should be exceptionally tough, but the Bobcats are fighting mad to get back in the winning column.

Both teams have some good personnel and have formed good teams, although Magnolia is only sporting a 2-5 season record, but the Panthers have played such powerhouses as Arkadelphia, Malvern and Camden, so one can understand it from that point.

Hope is 5-2 overall, and rated 10th in the AA rankings, dropping from fifth after the loss to Arkadelphia.

So whatever the outcome is, one can expect a hard-hitting battle with everyone getting plenty of lumps and bruises, but I think Hope will be favored and possibly win 28-7.

Bruins Still Only Unbeaten Team in NHL

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins still are the National Hockey League's only unbeaten team, but their long winning streak started en route to the Stanley Cup last spring is ended.

The Bruins, who had won 14 in a row, including the last 10 in the playoffs nearly six months ago, had to come from behind to earn a 3-3 tie with Chicago's close-checking Black Hawks Thursday night before a sweltering crowd of 14,888 at sticky Boston Garden.

"We weren't skating the way we can, but you'll find in this game you don't put it together every night," Boston Coach Tom Johnson said. "But we still got a tie out of it. This isn't a wake."

In the only other league game, the Philadelphia Flyers moved into first place ahead of Chicago in the Western Division with a 4-2 win over the Buffalo Sabers at Philadelphia.

The Bruins, who averaged more than six goals in winning their first four starts this season, opened a 2-0 fourth period lead, but then were unable to crack a stiffened defense and the goal-tending of Tony Esposito, Chicago's 1969-70 Vezina Trophy winner.

Bobkittens Drop Game to Magnolia

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Taking advantage of key fumbles and other mistakes the Magnolia Panthers defeated the Hope Bobkittens,, 22-7, last night at Hammons Stadium in a fumble plagued game.

The Bobkittens record fell to 2-4 while Magnolia still maintained its unbeaten slate at 6-0. Hope plays Fairview, there, next Thursday in the season finale.

Kicking off to Magnolia, Hope quickly ran into trouble. The Panthers started at their own 41 and moved upfield to the Kitten 46 on a first down, before giving a little ground.

Seconds later Magnolia quarterback Doug Rich connected with Tommy Watson for a 51 yard touchdown pass with 5:32 left in the opening period. The extra point failed but the Panthers had a quick 6-0 lead.

Several exchanges later gave Hope the ball on their own 25. On the first and ten play, Terry Smith picked out some good blocking and on a beautiful run, went 75 yards for the only Kitten score of the game.

David Huddleston split the uprights with the conversion kick and Hope lead with 1:16 left in the first period.

Later, in the second period, Magnolia moved from their own 36 yard line to the six, and then Rich threw a six yard pass to Donald Austin for the second Panther score with 3:44 remaining in the first half.

Richard Thomas then dove into the end zone for the two point conversion and gave Magnolia a 14-7 lead which held at half time.

Hope took the kickoff and from their own 38, started a beautiful drive.

Huddleston carried the first three times for a first down at the Kitten 47. Jud Martindale got five through the middle and then Huddleston carried the next six times in a row, behind some good offensive blocking to the Panther one yard line.

Disaster resulted when Magnolia recovered a Hope fumble in the end zone and the ball was put in play at the Magnolia 20.

Both teams then played about even, through the last quarter, before Magnolia took possession on their own 43, with 3:37 left in the game.

Two plays later Austin sped behind everyone and Rich lofted a pass that resulted in a 62 yard touchdown play. Austin took another pass for two extra points and with 3:03 remaining, Magnolia led 22-7.

The game ended that way with nothing happening afterwards, although Magnolia did attempt a field goal.

Porks to Win But No Way to Look Good

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There's no way the University of Arkansas can look good Saturday night against Wichita State University.

Three weeks ago an airplane crash removed the 22 starting offensive and defensive regulars from the Wheatshockers' varsity. WSU is expected to start seven freshmen, 10 sophomores, three juniors and two seniors against Arkansas.

If the Razorbacks run up the score, they will be criticized for picking on a crippled team.

If they don't pile up the points, some persons may doubt their ability.

Coach Frank Broyles is hoping the first unit can score a couple of quick touchdowns, retire and give the other youngsters an opportunity.

Arkansas whipped Wichita State 52-14 last year with John Eichler subbing for Bill Montgomery at quarterback.

Joe Ferguson should be as effective as Eichler.

ARKANSAS 56, WICHITA 14.

Arkansas State University, the top-ranked team in the college division, meets Abilene Christian Saturday in an important Southland Conference game.

With Jim Lindsey at quarterback, ACC may throw 40-50 passes. Lindsey has amassed more than 7,400 yards during his college career.

ACC is ranked 12th in the nation and has won five in a row after losing its opener.

ASU will be without fullback Marshall Walls, a deceptive runner and a valuable blocker, but the Indians may have found a new threat last week in flanker Chet Douthit, who caught 10 passes.

Abilene Christian's defense has been vulnerable in the past and may be again.

ASU 28, ABILENE 24.

Ouachita, unbeaten in AIC play, and Harding, once-beaten in the conference, meet Saturday night at Arkadelphia.

Ouachita suffered its first loss last week at the hands of Arkansas AM&N while Harding was winning a conference game with Arkansas A&M.

The Tigers should rebound this week.

OUACHITA 21, HARDING 14.

Last week's percentage was .833.

Here are other predictions involving other Arkansas colleges.

Southern State 17, State College of Arkansas 7.

Henderson 14, Arkansas A&M 7.

Arkansas Tech 28, Missouri Southern 20.

Coach Thinks Indians Are Prepared

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University Coach Bennie Ellender says he believes his Indians are prepared for Saturday night's important Southland Conference game with Abilene Christian college.

Ellender made the statement Thursday, at the conclusion of a 90-minute practice.

The Indians, top - ranked in the college division poll, must combat the passing of Jim Lindsey, who last week eclipsed the college division career record for passing yardage.

Kapp Signs Contract for $400,000

BOSTON (AP) — Quarterback Joe Kapp, who played out his option with the Minnesota Vikings last year and recently signed with the Boston Patriots, reportedly has a three-year contract which will pay him nearly $400,000.

A source told The Associated Press Thursday that Kapp signed a three-year no-cut contract for $130,000 per year with the National Football League club.

There also is a performance clause that could bring him additional money, lifting his total package to the $400,000 level.

There are only three quarterbacks in the NFL whose reported contracts call for salary payments anywhere in the $100,000-a-year neighborhood-Johnny Unitas of Baltimore, Joe Namath of the New York Jets and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles.

Haywood Asks Pay Boost of $3 Million

DENVER (AP) — Spencer Haywood, the American Basketball Association's "Mr. Everything," is seeking a pay boost of $1.35 million, according to an attorney who says he represents the Denver Rockets' superstar.

General Manager Don Ringsby of the Denver club said Thursday night he was informed by Los Angeles lawyer Al Ross that Haywood "is unhappy" with his present contract calling for $1.9 million over six years and wants to renegotiate for $3.25 million.

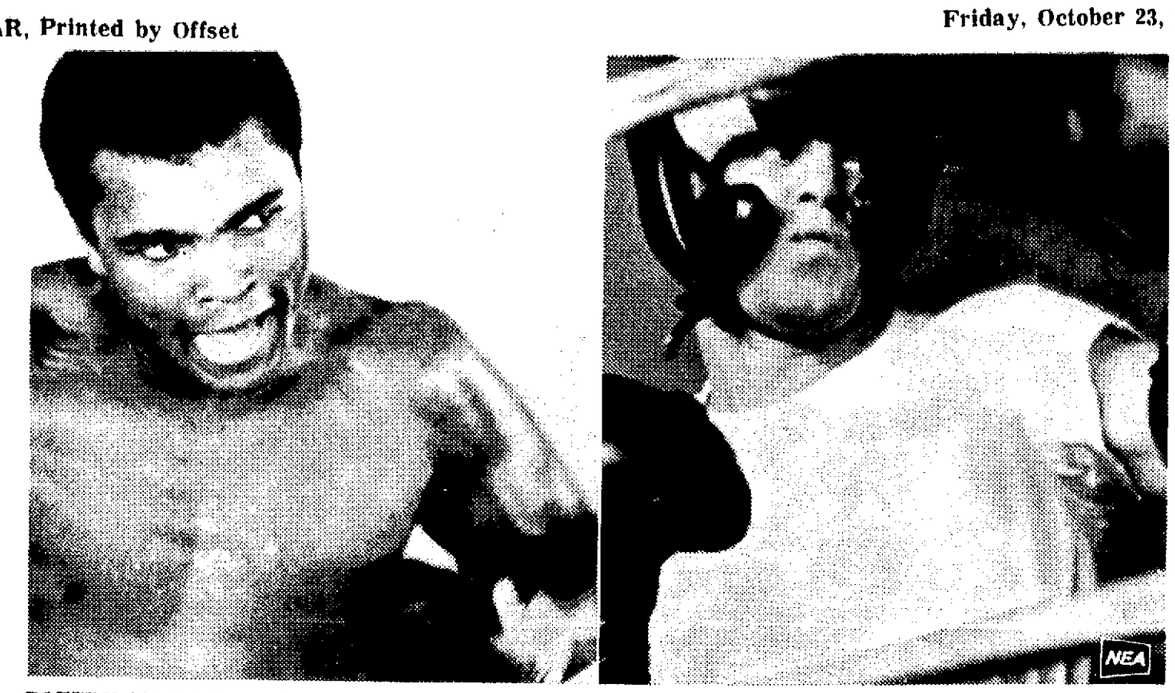

An earlier report said Haywood had been approached by a National Basketball Association team and was trying to break his Denver contract.

Ringsby, however, said "There was nothing said about threatening to jump to the NBA. We have a valid six-year contract with an option for a seventh year."

Ringsby's father, Rocket board chairman J. W. (Bill) Ringsby, said "We've renegotiated the contract three times already ... I think Spencer is just upset because he isn't able to play."

The 21-year-old Haywood, a former University of Detroit star, has been sidelined since late in the exhibition season with a broken bone in the ring finger of his left hand and has missed the Rockets' first four regular season games. A club spokesman said he is not expected to return to action until Nov. 6.

Haywood, who led the United States to a gold medal in basketball in the 1968 Olympics, was the ABA's most valuable player, leading scorer and rebounder and rookie of the year in his professional debut last season.

POETRY AND POSE against a tough, plodding opponent with little speed. Muhammad Ali, "the undefeated heavyweight champion," and Jerry Quarry, "the No. 1 contender," work out for their Oct. 26 Atlanta match.

Minnesota Picked Over L.A. Rams

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Off the bench and into the game for the first time this season, uniform spotless and ego unruffled, and bang—faced with the prospect of choosing between the Los Angeles Rams and Minnesota Vikings.

And here's the pick:

Minnesota 24, Los Angeles 20.

The reasoning is that the Rams have more injuries, therefore the Vikings will get more points.

Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel has a left shoulder contusion and two members of the Front Four—Deacon Jones and Merlin Olsen—are bothered by nagging leg injuries. The Vikings' Front Four, key to a league-leading defense that has allowed only 36 points, is intact —and healthy.

And so it's the Rams in the Monday night game that will be nationally televised by ABC beginning at 9 p.m., EDT. The other games on the National Football League's 13-game program all are Sunday but that doesn't make the pickin' easier. But here goes:

Denver 27, San Francisco 24—An upset based on Rich Jackson and Co. on the Bronco Front Four teeing off and getting to 49ers' John Brodie.

Miami 35, Cleveland 17—Paul Warfield, traded by Browns, returns to haunt Brown mates with two touchdown catches from Dolphin quarterback Bob Griese.

St. Louis 38, New York Giants 10—Giants' defense feeling great after shutout of Boston, but MacArthur Lane will make them feel otherwise.

Detroit 31, Chicago 7—Bears can't run without Gale Sayers. When you can't run you can't pass. When you can't run or pass you can't score. Detroit can.

Kansas City 24, Dallas 17—The Chiefs, born the Dallas Texans, lost the battle for the city but will win this first regular season meeting with Len Dawson back in peak form.

Baltimore 28, Boston 27—The Colts have won four of five by outscoring the opposition 107-106. The bubble's got to burst but Joe Kapp and his new mates won't be the ones.

Oakland 42, Pittsburgh 14—Raiders in high gear now with Daryle Lamonica throwing and Hewritt Dixon running as he did in Super Bowl year. Terry Bradshaw gets another lesson.

Washington 31, Cincinnati 21—The Bengals aren't the Raiders so Sonny Jurgensen will be able to go deep instead of throwing to his backs.

San Diego 27, Houston 10—With quarterback Charley Johnson and running back Hoyle Granger lost, the Oilers don't figure to have much offense.

Atlanta 17, New Orleans 14—Neither team shows much explosiveness, and statistically there's not much difference. Give the Falcons the home field edge.

Green Bay 34, Philadelphia 20—Eagles are still playing magic chairs with Front Four and Norm Snead can't get going. Donny Anderson running well for Packers now.

Buffalo 28, New York Jets 13—Joe Namath has joined Jets' injured list, depriving attack of all potency. Dennis Shaw and O.J. Simpson give Bills more than enough firepower.

Once Mighty Pitt Making Signs Again

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pitt Panthers, once one of the most feared teams in the country, but just a bunch of tame pussycats the last few years, take the spotlight away from the top-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes in college football Saturday.

The Panthers scored an upset 36-35 victory over West Virginia last week with a fantastic second half rally after trailing 35-8.

That was Pitt's fourth straight triumph after an opening game defeat by UCLA and recalled the glory days of the Jock Sutherland coaching era in the 1920s and 1930s.

How they do against the Miami Hurricanes at Pitt Stadium Saturday should indicate whether the Panthers actually are on the way back or if the upset of West Virginia was just a flash in the pan.

Sutherland's teams were famous for their running game and ability to block and tackle. That seems to be the style of Pitt's current coach, Carl Depasqua. He calls it "fundamentally sound football, Western Pennsylvania style."

The No. 1 Buckeyes, whose trademark also is a strong running attack, play at Illinois and are favored to win their fifth straight against no defeats.

In other games, involving The Associated Press Top Ten, No. 2 Texas plays at Rice and the Longhorns also are favored to make five in a row against the Owls. Third-ranked Notre Dame, 5-0, has an open date, while No. 4 Nebraska, unbeaten, but tied, is host to Oklahoma State.

Michigan, No. 5, goes after its sixth straight against Minnesota at Ann Arbor. Auburn, No. 6, entertains Louisiana State, Air Force, No. 7, is at home to Boston College, Stanford, No. 8, is at UCLA, No. 9, Arkansas, meets Wichita State at Little Rock, and Southern California, No. 10, is at Oregon.

Minnesota at Michigan is one of four games that will be regionalls televised by ABC. The others are Penn State at Army, Florida at Tennessee and Dartmouth at Harvard.

The Florida at Tennessee game may provide some fireworks. Doug Dickey, now Florida coach, was the Tennessee coach last season.

Stanford, led by quarterback Jim Plunkett, is aiming for the Rose Bowl and the Indians do not plan to let UCLA upset their hopes.

Other leading games include Colorado at Missouri, Kansas State at Oklahoma, Southern Mississippi at Mississippi State, Mississippi at Vanderbilt, Georgia at Kentucky, Arizona at Utah and New Mexico at Wyoming.

Burnett to Miss WSC Play Sat.

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tailback Bill Burnett, who has scored 46 touchdowns during his career at Arkansas, probably won't play Saturday night against Wichita State University, but that doesn't mean the Razorbacks' offense will be less effective.

Burnett, who is suffering from a pulled muscle, will be replaced by exciting Jon Richardson, the first Negro to play football at Arkansas.

Richardson, a sophomore, has averaged six yards a carry this year while netting 179 yards. He also has caught seven passes for 94 yards and contributed an additional 214 yards on kick returns.

"Jon is capable of making the big play for us," says offensive backfield coach Don Breaux. "We feel like he has natural running ability. He has great vision, and he can cut back against the flow without losing any speed."

Richardson's running mates on the second team, dubbed "Archie's Heroes" because of center Archie Bennett, are expected to log plenty of playing time against the Wheatshockers.

Three weeks ago an airplane crash removed the 22 starting offensive and defensive regulars from the WSU varsity. The Wheatshockers, who haven't played since the Oct. 2 crash, are expected to start seven freshmen, 10 sophomores, three juniors and two seniors against Arkansas.

The ninth-ranked Razorbacks, idle last week, hope to use the Wichita State game as a warmup for their Southwest Conference push that begins next week with Texas A&M.

"We look on this as a week of improvement," says Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "Our alternate units will get a chance to gain some experience.

"We're proud that we're having a chance to help them recover from their tragedy," Broyles said. "They need to play the game if they're to continue their program and develop their players."

Arkansas defeated Wichita State 52-14 last year even though first-string quarterback Bill Montgomery did not play.

A crowd of about 35,000 is expected for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

Small College QBs Leading Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Four NCAA College Division quarterbacks are waging the tightest total offense race since the weekly statistical rankings began in 1948. Only 5.3 yards per game separate the four.

Tim Von Dulm of Portland State is the total offense leader with an average of 269.8 yards a game, according to statistics released today.

Ken Anderson of Augustana, Ill., is second with 268.2, followed by Mike Grejboski of Drake with 267.2 and Jim Lindsey of Abilene Christian with 264.5.

Von Dulm also leads in passing with 25 completions a game. Grejbowski is second with 22.4, and Lindsey is third with 19.5. Anderson is seventh with 16.6.

Rich Weaver of PMC Colleges is the rushing leader with an average 191 yards a game; Bob Somerville of University of Missouri-Rolla is the receiving leader with an average of nine catches a game, and Mike DiBlasi of Mount Union has the best scoring average, 15.6 points.

Idaho State Suspends 17 Black Players

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Idaho State University football coach Ed Cavanaugh says 17 black players will play no more this season.

The 17, including three freshman squad members, were suspended Thursday after they boycotted a practice Wednesday.

The 14 varsity members, including four starters on both the offensive and defensive teams, were close-mouthed about the reason they refused to report for practice Wednesday.

A spokesman indicated, however, that two black defensive backs, Don Taylor and Rhett Sherman, were not being given enough playing time, even in games where ISU was far ahead.

Another player who declined to be identified said he felt he could not discuss this problems with Cavanaugh. Cavanaugh dismissed the charge, saying he had talked at length with that particular player.

Cavanaugh and his staff met Wednesday afternoon with the blacks. Later that night he met with the rest of the squad, 44 players, then announced that the suspeneion would hold for the remaining four games ISU has scheduled. The team is 3-3 for the year.

Cavanaugh said his staff would continue to prepare for Saturday's Big Sky Conference game with Weber State, but admitted loss of the 14 blacks would hurt.

"I feel real let down that this situation came about," Cavanaugh said Thursday night. "But when 14 players didn't show up for practice, then it became a matter of who is coaching the team."

"My main concern now is with the rest of the players who did show up and who are getting ready for Saturday's game," Cavanaugh said.

Scholarships of the 17 suspended players will be continued through the end of the yaar. None has been suspended from school.

Tradition Is Against Ali in Comeback

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

ATLANTA (AP) — Tradition is against a successful ring comeback for Muhammad, Ali after a 3½ year layoff, but that doesn't faze the brash and cocky ex-heavyweight champion of the world.

"Man, I'm faster than when I was the fastest," insists the controversial Louisville Lip, capping off training for his Monday night 15-rounder here against Jerry Quarry.

"I am only 28. I have kept myself in shape. I have lived a clean life. I am still the best—the champ. Nobody can beat me."

The black-skinned descendant of a runaway slave, born Cassius Marcellus Clay in Louisville, is not one to pore over ring record books. If he were, his confidence might be shaken.

History shows that many of the great champions, from John L. Sullivan up to the time of Joe Louis, have found ring rust a handicap too great to conquer.

Sullivan, known as the Boston Strong Boy in the bareknuckle era, won the heavyweight crown from Paddy Ryan in front of the Barnes Hotel in Mississippi City, Miss., back in 1882.

He bowled over opponents for the next several years, ran out of foes and did not fight from 1889 to 1892. During this period of idleness, he took a trip to Europe, sparred with the Prince of Wales and played "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" on the stage.

Returning to the ring in 1892—fat, out of shape and 33—Sullivan was an easy victim of James J. Corbett, who won by a knockout in 21 rounds.

Corbett himself retired in 1895 to become an actor. He tried a comeback only to be knocked out in 14 rounds by Bob Fitzsimmons. Fitzsimmons ultimately lost the title to Jim Jeffries in 1899.

Jeffries, known as the Boilermaker, retired in 1904 and let Marvin Hart and Jack Root fight for his crown, Hart winning. After a five-year lapse, Jeffries tried to regain the title. Pitifully out of condition, he was kayoed by Jack Johnson in Reno in 1910. He was 35 at the time.

Jack Dempsey, after knocking out Luis Firpo Sept. 14, 1923, had three years of easy living, with no standout opponents. He fought exhibitions, once taking on six different foes in one night, kayoing four.

His once sturdy legs and flicking hands didn't look the same Sept. 23, 1926 when he lost the first of his two decisions to Gene Tunney.

Jimmy Braddock spent two years waiting for Joe Louis and avoiding Max Schmeling and got himself knocked out in seven rounds. Louis himself couldn't find the secret of comeback success and lost to Ezzard Charles in 1950—at the age of 36.

The question at the Municipal Auditorium here Monday night will be: Has Muhhamad Ali, like so many of his predecessors, stayed away too long? Has he lost the spring and the fire that carried him to 29 professional victories, 23 by knockout, with no defeats?

Muhammad insists he hasn't. "I've never been better," says Ali.

"There is no reason he shouldn't be capable of making a comeback,"says ex-champion Jersey Joe Walcott, who refereed Ali's second victory over Sonny Liston. "He's young. He's one of the greatest fighters I've ever seen."

"You can't help losing something by a layoff," says Braddock. "It can't be done unless you're a superman."

Monday will not be a gala day for all Georgians.

Gov. Lester Maddox, who vehemently opposed the bout, declared it a day of mourning.

Denouncing Ali as a draft dodger, the governor said: "I hope he gets beat in the first round. Flattened out. To the count of 30."

Arkansans Far Back in First Round

NAPA, Calif. (AP) —Miller Barber of Texarkana and Richard Crawford of Bella Vista were far back in the pack Thursday after the first round of the $150,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament.

Barber equaled par 72 and Crawford had a 74. Jack Montgomery gained the first-round lead with a 65.

SWC Teams in Full Swing Saturday

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rice, Baylor and Texas Tech all have something in common this weekend. They're fighting to keep from being eliminated in the Southwest Conference football race.

It's two losses and you're on the sidelines with Texas A&M. No team has ever dropped two SWC battles and gained the championship throne.

Rice hosts the second-ranked Texas Longhorns, Baylor entertains Texas A&M and Texas Tech rolls out the Astroturf for Southern Methodist at Lubbock.

In the only other game involving a SWC team, Arkansas is a prohibitive favorite to make the final conference record against intersectional foes 17-12-1 as it hosts Wichita State.

One interesting sidelight to the Rice-Texas game in Houston before some 60,000 persons is how the defending national champion Longhorns, who have the nation's longest winning streak at 24, can function without their miracle worker split end, Cotton Speyrer.

Danny Lester and tiny Dean Campbell will fill in for Speyrer, who suffered a broken arm in the Oklahoma game.

Rice has a habit of being most troublesome for Texas in Houston. The Longhorns hold a thin 13-12-1 all-time margin in Houston. Texas paces the overall series 35-20-1.

The Longhorns are four-touchdown favorites over the Owls, who took a 10-0 blanking at the hands of Southern Methodist last week. Texas coach Darrell Royal made it a point this week to lecture his squad on what can happen to a complacent team in Houston.

Texas quarterback Eddie Phillips said "I know I don't think about any jinx...I figure they'll play their best against us...And we're well aware Rice is capable of pulling an upset. Other than that there's nothing special about their past history."

Rice is going to have to get its offense untracked to down the 'Horns. SMU gave the Owls only nine first downs.

And the SMU defense wasn't lost on new Tech head coach Jim Carlen.

Carlen says SMU has a potent offense, "But you also have to be impressed by their defense. They shut out Rice and anytime you shut out a Southwest Conference team, you are playing dog-goned good defense."

SMU has its top two rushers—Gary Hammond and Gordon Gilder—hobbled with injuries.

Tech holds a slim 9-8 all-time edge in the series. And the Red Raiders must win to stay alive after falling to Texas 35-13 in their league opener. Tech ranks second in the SWC in rushing and is fourth overall behind cool-headed junior quarterback Charles Napper.

The Red Raiders are a touchdown favorite. A crowd of 43,000 is expected for the 2 p.m. CDT kickoff.

Baylor, which has a conference loss to Arkansas, is expected to be sky high for the Aggies Saturday night in Waco. The Bears are coming off an open date and are in excellent physical condition.

"Record-wise we're not doing much better than we did last year," said Bear coach Bill Beall. "But we're so much better off because we haven't had the injuries."

Beall says his players are "going into every game thinking they can win."

Laney Cook will likely get the start at quarterback against the Aggies, who have lost to both Texas Tech and Texas Christian.

A&M has been the biggest mystery story in the SWC this year, starting off strongly and now only the shell of the team that beat LSU 20-18 in the second game of the season and scared Michigan before falling 14-10.

Aggie coach Gene Stallings admitted after the 31-15 loss to TCU that his young sophomores "have got me confused, too."

A crowd of some 25,000 is expected for the game which shows A&M leading the all-time series 38-21-7.

High-scoring Arkansas plays Wichita State in the first game for the Shockers since the Oct. 2 plane crash that killed 13 varsity players and head coach Ben Wilson. The NCAA allowed new coach Bob to work with 43 freshmen to beef up his squad.

Arkansas won 52-14 last year. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. CDT in War Memorial Stadium.

Wichita State Day in Mo. Valley

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Saturday, Oct. 31 has been designated as "Wichita State Day" in the Missouri Valley Conference to help raise funds for the school's stricken athletic program.

Commissioner DeWitt T. Weaver has issued a nationwide call for other intercollegiate conferences to support the project.

The WSU football program suffered a serious setback Oct. 2, when a plane carrying members of the Shocker football team crashed into the mountains in Colorado killing 30 members of the party including players, athletic administrators and team boosters.

All donations received by the MVC will be deposited in the Wichita Fund which has been established to meet enormous expenses which have resulted from the crash and which are not covered by insurance. Costs include replacing the football equipment which was destroyed, expenses incurred by families of players who were aboard the plane and the loss of revenue from two games cancelled immediately following the tragic accident.

"We are doing everything possible to assist Wichita State and encourage its courageous effort to continue and maintain a well rounded program of intercollegiate atheltics," Weaver stated.

Among the leaders in founding the Wichita Fund are the collegiate directors of athletics and the collegiate conference commissioners. It has received the support of many national athletic organizations including the American College Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association of America, the Cotton Bowl Association and many more. Tax deductible contributions are being deposited in the Fourth National Bank of Wichita, Kan. The Fund is being administered by the WSU Board of Trustees.

Wichita State resumes its football schedule Saturday against Arkansas in Little Rock. The squad will be comprised of 43 freshmen, 23 sophomores, six juniors and three seniors. Bob Lanier Continues to Impress

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Lanier continues to impress in his rookie season with the Detroit Pistons.

He made another impression Thursday night — on Bob Christian's nose.

Brawny Bob staggered the Atlanta rookie with a left hook and some fighting-mad players emptied onto the court from the Pistons' ND Hawks' benches.

The would-be battlers soon went back to the business at hand and the red-hot Pistons went on to punch out the Hawks 120-101 in a National Basketball Association game.

The action occurred when Lanier and Christian became entangled in a fight for a loose ball.

Both Lanier and Christian were hit with personal fouls—but neither was ejected. However, referee Darell Garrison said that seven Pistons and four Hawks who left the benches probably would be fined, Under a new league rule, only coaches can leave the benches when a fight erupts.

The New York Knicks were up to their old second-half magic, coming back for a 95-92 victory over the San Francisco Warriors and San Diego beat Cleveland 140-110 in other NBA games Thursday night.

In the American Basketball Association, Memphis outscored Kentucky 109-99, Virginia turned back Carolina 114-110 and the Floridians beat the New York Nets 110-100.

Detroit, only unbeaten team in the NBA, extended its victory string to six. The Pistons had a 17-point lead in the second quarter, but the Hawks, led by Pete Maravich's 23 points, sliced the margin to six. The Detroit scored 13 straight and ran away to hide from Atlanta.

Mike Riordan provided the spark with nine fourth-quarter points that gave the Knicks a comeback victory, their trademark in last year's title-winning season. He delivered the killing blow, a 20-foot jumper with 40 seconds left.

Elvin Hayes put on a powerhouse show, scoring 40 points to pace the San Diego victory over winless Cleveland.

Memphis ran away from a 50-50 halftime tie with a 35-15 third-quarter margin that buried Kentucky. Pros guard Steve Jones rifled in 10 points in the period.

Virginia collected 100 rebounds but had to rally for a last-quarter victory over Carolina. Two free throws by Roland Taylor sent the Squires ahead for good 92-91 at the 9:29 mark.

Larry Jones completed a three-point play to snap a 95-95 tie with five minutes left, leading the Floridians over the Nets.

Montgomery Takes Kaiser Meet Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus summed it up in this fashion:

"I feel like a champion ready to defend his title but who trips on the ropes climbing in the ring and knocks himself out."

Nicklaus, the defending champion and pre-tourney favorite in the $150,000 Kaiser International Open golf tournament, hit his first tee shot out of bounds, had two three-putt greens and settled for a 71 in Thursday's first round, well back in the field.

Jack Montgomery, a non-winning tour veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., took the lead with a brilliant 65, seven under par on the 6,559-yard south course at the Silverado County Club. The 6,613-yard, par 72 north course also was played, with the field switching courses for today's second round.

Veteran Ken Still, winner of two tournaments last year, was alone in second with a 66, also on the south course.

Four veterans and a 24-year-old Canadian rookie, Ben Kern, were tied at 67. Also at 67 are former masters champion Bob Goalby, Chi Chi Rodriquez, Mason Rudolph and Dale Douglass, who scored a hole in one on the 167-yard, par three 17th hole. Kern, Rodriquez and Douglass played the south course, Goalby and Rudolph the north.

The large group at 68 included Dave Hill and Bert Yancey.

Montgomery, still seeking his first official victory after eight years on the pro tour, has won only about $10,000 this season and is making his first start in almost two months.

"I went home after I failed to qualify at Hartford," the big, 29-year-old blond said. "I just got sick of shooting those damn 80s and I thought I'd better get home and see if I couldn't get straightened out.

"I changed my grip and must have hit five million balls.

Montgomery, who had to survive Monday's qualifying play to make it into this tournament, missed only one green, finding a trap on the third hole. But he saved par with a five foot putt.

He didn't have a bogey and hit his irons with rifle accuracy. He wedged to within two feet twice, scored four birdies on putts ranging from five to seven feet and got his other on the par five ninth, which he reached in two and two-putted from 25 feet.

Oswald Jacoby invented the weak jump overcall for use in the Culbertson-Lenz match way back in 1931. It is in general expert use today. It has become part of both the Roth-Stone and Kaplan-Sheinwold systems but has not been adopted by the general public. We have made it part of JACOBY-MODERN because we know that all bridge players should put this bid in their kit.

South's two-spade bid is one of these bids. He is sure that his opponents have a game somewhere. He decides to throw a monkey wrench in their bidding machinery by depriving them of bidding space.

His bid shuts West out and North gets into the act by jumping to four spades. North doesn't know who can make what but he knows that four spades won't be hurt.

East can find no better call than a double. West considers five hearts but decides to take what he thinks will be a profit. He passes and opens the eight of clubs.

East does the best he can. He wins the club and returns a trump. South wins in his own hand and has time to ruff his last three clubs before having to surrender the lead, so that four spades doubled is made.

Without the jump overcall, East and West would surely get to four hearts and be allowed to play the hand there. There is no defense against four hearts. In fact, it takes a club lead to beat five hearts.

For the record, there is a defense to beat four spades. It would never come off at the table but it is there. Maybe some of you will have the fun of finding it.

Instead of bidding six diamonds, your partner has bid six clubs to show no king. What do you do now?

Sugar's Calories Enough To Require Limiting It

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

Dear Doctor—In an article you implied atherosclerosis and vascular diseases were caused strictly by smoking and drinking habits of youth. I am 40 and have vascular disease and have never habitually smoked or drank. You see, I am a Baptist. I have used sugar in probably excessive amounts, consequently. Couldn't sugar be a contributing factor to vascular disorders?

Dear Reader—I am not sure that being a Baptist precludes drinking and smoking. I know a lot of Baptists who do both. Neither is drinking and smoking confined to youth. A heavy smoker has three times the likelihood of having a heart attack as a nonsmoker. Alcohol has a direct effect on the heart and often contributes to improper eating. Drunkenness and gluttony go hand in hand.

Artery disease is caused by many factors. Diet, exercise and habits are all important considerations. To prevent artery disease, you need to eat right, exercise properly and avoid bad habits. Many nonsmokers and people who do not drink alcohol develop heart disease. Some people, possibly because of inherited tendencies, are much more prone to develop heart disease and their living patterns are even more important to try to prevent disease. Diabetics, for example, are especially prone to vascular disease. For this reason, diabetics should be especially careful about their diet, exercise and habits.

Concerning sugar, a few investigators have thought a high sugar intake could cause artery disease. I am not convinced that their data supports that idea. In the population studies that are supposed to show this, the people gained considerable amounts of weight and they didn't gain muscle, but fat. No diet will prevent atherosclerosis if you eat so much you put on fat.

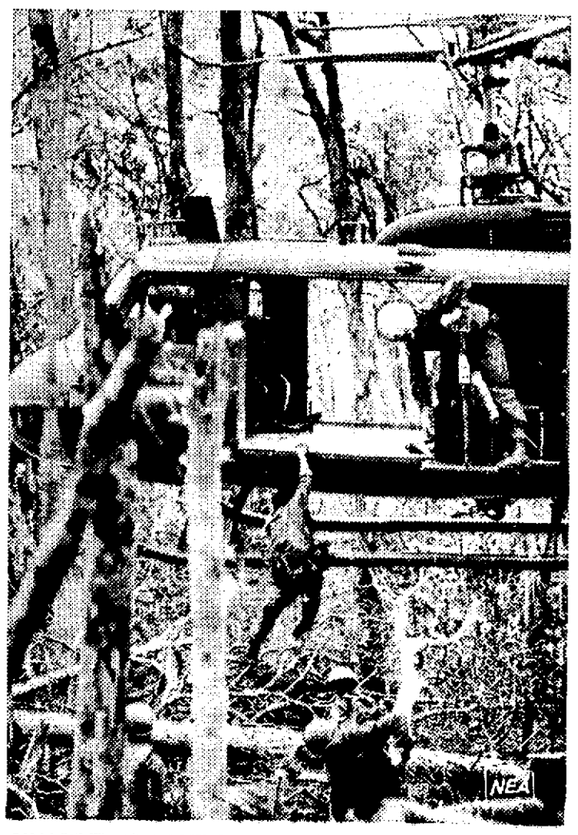

I think the first important consideration in a proper diet to prevent atherosclerosis is to prevent obesity or remove excess fat. To the extent that sugar contains lots of calories, it may defeat this goal. Beyond that, the emphasis should be on limiting saturated fats and cholesterol. And don't forget that how many calories you can eat also depends on the level of your daily activity.

Wiley Named Top Man in FCC Group

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard E. Wiley, the new top lawyer for the Federal Communications Commission, sees his job as being "the legal conscience of the commission—making certain the commission stays within bounds."

Wiley said in an interview he does not expect to assume the role of originator and innovator he attributes to his predecessor, Henry M. Geller.

Wiley was appointed general counsel, replacing Geller, last Sept. 15; Geller was retained as a special assistant for planning.

Just two weeks later the FCC made public a year-old Geller memorandum illustrating the latitude of a general counsel—usually an "inside man" unnoticed by the public—to "originate and innovate."

The FCC has long held the law gives it little authority over the kind or content of programs broadcast on radio and TV stations it licenses. But the agency has insisted broadcasters present controversial issues fairly, and provide reply time to persons who are slurred on the air.

After the Supreme Court upheld those rules, Geller suggested the decision not only backed up past FCC policy, but blazed a trail into the uncharted territory of programming in general.

He said it meant the FCC does, indeed, have authority to "interest itself in general program format and the kinds of programs broadcast by licensees."

HOLY CROSSING in Shullsburg, Wis. Streets of this old mining town were named in 19th century by a Roman Catholic missionary from Italy. Other names include Charity, Truth, Wisdom, Virtue, Peace and Judgment.

Scientists May Shatter Old Belief

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Scientists may be on the road to shattering the belief that light is essential to the origins of new life.

Dr. R. J. Conover of the marine ecology laboratory at the Bedford Institute of Oceanography says there is a physical-chemical process that presumably produces life by enabling existing life to multiply in the absence of light..

"There is a process in the sea that can produce apparently organic particles, strictly chemically and without living organisms being present," he added in an interview.

"It's not supposed to happen but apparently it does," said Dr. L. M. Dickie, director of the laboratory.

The hypothesis is based on evidence gathered from a series of experiments on thousands of analyses collected during an 11-month voyage of the oceanographic vessel Hudson, based at the laboratory.

The experiments consisted of the comparison of the total particle matter in a sample to the specific measurements for living organic matter. These latter measurements are based on an ATP enzyme system.

More than 10,000 ocean samples were collected for chemical analysis and study. Until now it has been thought that light and green plants were essential to produce new life by the process known as photosynthesis.

Scientists at Bedford have questioned this because one of the commonest methods of measuring the rate of photosynthesis at times produce results difficult to explain.

The problem is that photosynthesis seems to occur at times in darkness, something that by all the accepted explanations of the origins of life should not happen.

A possible explanation being considered is that some organisms can produce organic matter in either light or darkness.

Another is that a process called dark fixation takes place by bacterial action in the absence of light.

Whatever the explanation, the Hudson scientists found that in warmer waters photosynthesis is lower than in cold waters but "dark fixation" is greatly increased.

Dickie said the study indicates the total productivity of the seas may be much greater than has been believed.

Up to about five years ago, it had been estimated that the sea was half as productive as the land. Since 70 per cent of the earth's surface is seas, that meant about equal amounts of organic material from land and sea.

"Now it is beginning to look as though the sea is more productive than the land in total," he said.

STRENGTHEN YOUR FAITH

Through Regular Church Worship

The strong, vigorous but loving hand of protection will see this sapling through. Every sapling needs such care if it becomes a mighty tree. It must grow straight if it grows tall. It must be shielded from the blight of insects... it must have food and light.

Father, Mother, are you your sapling's guiding hand? Remember, as the sapling is bent, the tree will grow. You have a responsibility... you are accountable to God. Do not provoke your children to anger, but train them in the discipline and instruction of the Lord. Are you doing that? Juvenile Court records show few church and Sunday school children go wrong. Be your sapling's guiding hand.

You In The Church... The Church In You

Form a combination for good. We should attend church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be faithful. Be a Churchman!

Scandal Opens Way for Ohio Democrats

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio once looked more elusive than Camelot itself for Kennedy Democrats, but an abrupt odor of scandal has provided a latter-day New Frontiersman with the scent of victory.

With statehouse Republicans caught in the backlash of a questionable loan deal, former Congressman and Kennedy organizer John L. Gilligan is moving toward the governor's chair.

"We're trying to win this state back from the fixers," says the 49-year-old Gilligan, sounding the theme of the Democratic campaign.

While top GOP strategists concede that Gilligan's lead appears insurmountable, they nonetheless are pouring their energies into keeping their candidate, State Auditor Roger Cloud, within range.

The fear, simply, is that a Gilligan landslide could drag under the Republicans' favorite son, Rep. Robert Taft Jr., in an otherwise close Senate race against liberal Democrat Howard Metzenbaum.

The normally subdued Cloud, a strong party loyalist, has played out the part with newfound fury, calling his opponent "tax-a-billion Gilligan" and charging that his "ultra left-wing philosophy will destroy progress in Ohio."

Retorts Gilligan: "The Republicans won't be able to cover up their scandal with their smokescreen of vicious personal attacks."

Without the scandal, Gilligan likely wouldn't stand a chance in this traditionally conservative state. He already has lost twice, once to Congressman Taft in hometown Cincinnati and once to Sen. William B. Saxbe.

Cloud proudly boasts that under the leadership of outgoing Gov. James Rhodes, the party built "the most effective political force in the nation." Democrats, meanwhile, had lost ground steadily.

But a curtain of scandal began to ring down on the GOP when it was disclosed earlier in the year that the state administration had surpassed a $50 million limit on state investment loans.

Then, it turned out, the firm which arranged the loans received hefty commissions ranging from $500,000 to $1 million. Moreover, that same firm gave more than $30,000 in campaign contributions to various Republicans, including Cloud and the nominees for attorney general and auditor.

Although Cloud disclaimed any responsibility and returned the campaign money, Gilligan's popularity promptly skyrocketed. And a campaign which once promised a bumper crop of issues, including the Kent State incident, tax reform, pollution and education, turned instead to a bitter exchange of body punches.

Cloud, who previously had prided himself on avoiding personal attacks, began hopscotching the state in his "Cloud 9" helicopter, armed with a six-year-old clipping from the Xavier University student newspaper.

In somewhat bland tones, Cloud reads a quote attributed to Gilligan: "The university crowd should start riots and political revolutions in the area of what this country obviously needs."

"It's a lie," retorts Gilligan. "They know it is a lie. I know it is a lie. You know it is a lie."

And he offers statements from officials at Xavier, where he once taught literature, to support his contention that the newspaper's quote isn't his own.

Cloud nonetheless has come off with the harder line on campus disorders. Without specific reference to Kent, he says he would call out the National Guard, equipped with live ammunition, if further trouble were to occur. But he adds: "They would load only on specific orders of the commanding officer."

Gilligan says he would call up Guardsmen only as a last resort and then under the condition that they cooperate with police officers trained in handling unruly crowds.

Cloud, a one time farmer and heavy construction operator, wants a county income tax, which Gilligan claims would be impractical, unfair and inadequate.

Instead, Gilligans prefers a tax on corporation income. But Cloud terms that proposal "completely irresponsible," saying it would take "an average of $29 a month more out of the pockets of every family in Ohio."

Both men appear to be well-financed, although the GOP has pleaded for public donations to pay for last-ditch saturation advertising. A recent leak that the GOP National Committee has written off Cloud as a loser isn't likely to help that cause.

Gilligan's forces, meanwhile, have tapered off their fund-raising, having acknowledged several weeks ago that 80 per cent of a $1 million budget was already in the till.

Gilligan is rated the more attractive of the pair for television. Red-haired, rangy and freckled, he comes across as far more outgoing. Cloud is heavier, shorter, and parts his white hair in the middle. The polls show him ahead, for whatever consolation, in the age bracket over 65.

Apparently the byproduct of the personal infighting rather than concentration on issues, an undercurrent of voter disgust has been reported throughout the state. Many appear to share the sentiment of bartender William Ruhlman: "I couldn't vote for Gilligan and I sure as hell don't like Cloud."

Each candidate, not unexpectedly, blames the other for the obfuscation.

Lost Tribes

One theory regarding the fate of the Lost Ten Tribes of Israel is that the Israelites, who had been exiled by Sennacherib in 719 B.C., had wandered across Asia and into North America, thereby becoming the ancestors of the American Indians.

Drinking Man Defies Police Booze Test

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The man on the witness stand hoisted his glass, toasted the judge and tossed off four ounces of booze.

The judge ordered another round.

The witness was 65-year-old Alton J. Cothern. With the judge's approval he was attempting to prove his driving wasn't impaired by drink no matter what the highway patrol breath test said.

Troopers who arrested the retired bricklayer said his breath weighed in at an alcohol level of .16. Florida law says a driver is drunk if it reaches .10.

With the bailiff playing bartender, Cothern downed eight ounces of 86 proof whiskey in the first round of the demonstration Thursday. The defendant puffed into the breath tester and said, "Don't explode baby." It showed a reading of 13.

"This is pretty good stuff," Cothern said when the experiment resumed. Another breath test left him at .14.

"I sure hate to drink by myself," Cothern said, bending his elbow again.

Two half pints after the demonstration began, the machine had jumped to .18. Judge Robert Schultz ordered a recess to give the count time to subside to the level at the time of Cothern's arrest.

When court reconvened, Cothern, down to .16, was put through the standard tests: walk a line, stand on one leg, touch your nose with your eyes closed.

During the nose touching test, Cothern demonstrated that he could hit his mouth every time.

Guilty, said the jury.

The judge ordered an, investigation of Cothern's background before entencing.

"Tell It Like It Is: Communicate" was the theme of the annual meeting of Federation XVI of the Future Homemakers of America last Saturday on the Henderson State College campus in Arkadelphia.

Twenty-five Southwest Arkansas FHA chapters were represented with 565 girls registering for the program. Hope was represented by 48 members of the local chapter of 121.

Miss Marjorie Royston of Hope was one of the featured speakers. Margie, a senior at Ouachita Baptist University and Miss Congeniality of the 1970 Miss Arkansas Pageant, urged the girls to be sincere and really work to achieve understanding through communication.

Nancy Ross of Blevins wowed the group as a talent feature. She played the piano and sang two musical numbers. Yolanda Fellows of the Washington chapter led the group singing. Debbie Owens, president of the Hope chapter took part in the roll call.

Debbie Gunter of Hope accepted the gavel as new Federation XVI president in an impressive ceremony to climax the day's activities. Debbie will serve as president until July 1972. Margaret Turner of Blevins was installed as secretary. Also taking part was Judy York of Spring Hill as outgoing historian.

Accompaning the Hope girls were Mrs. Dean Murphy, chapter mother and Mrs. Helen Clark, Mrs. Estelle Spearman, and Mrs. Carole Lester, FHA sponsors.

Scott Shoo-in Over Any Conservative

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nose count of present and prospective Republican senators shows moderate Hugh Scott a shoo-in to beat any conservative attempt to unseat him as Senate GOP leader, according to a Republican senator.

"I just can't see—if the worst or the best happens—that we won't go into this thing with a lot more votes than we went into it with last time," said the senator who asked not to be named.

Scott beat Tennessee's Howard H. Baker Jr. 24 to 19 in last year's leadership contest. Baker and Robert J. Dole of Kansas both are reported considering a drive to oust Scott if Pennsylvania's voters, as expected, send him back to the Senate in November.

Without naming names, the source, who backs Scott, said the Pennsylvanian has nibbled away at Baker's forces without losing any of his own, and has support of more prospective new GOP senators than the opposition.

African Blond Spy for Cuba Is Sought

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A 26-year-old South African blonde was in hiding today following reports that she spied for Cuba while working at the South African Embassy in Washington.

Johannesburg newspapers said the girl, Jennifer Miles, had connections with the two Cuban diplomats at the United Nations who were recently kicked out of the United States for spying. The London Daily Express said she is also suspected of having connections with the Canadian terrorists who kidnaped and murdered Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte and are holding British diplomat James Cross.

"It is understood," said a Daily Express story from Washington, "that the FBI has the names of more than 100 men dated by Miss Miles while she worked for the Cuban spy organization. The names include those of many junior U.S. officials and diplomats at several embassies in Washington."

Miss Miles worked at the South African Embassy from April 1969 until last month, when she came to Johannesburg and went to work as a secretary at a carpet concern. She quit her job Tuesday and moved out of her Johannesburg apartment Wednesday. Her last employer said he had "no idea" what had happened to her.

The newspaper Die Transvaler said it had traced her but that she was noncommittal about the reports and asked: "Why don't you speak to Gen. Hendrik van den Bergh?"

Van den Bergh, head of the state security bureau, would say only that "Miss Miles is known to the bureau."

Local newspapers said the young woman, who was born in Kimberley, the diamond center, spent more than a year in Canada studying an underground network that ferries Canadian extremists and members of the Black Power movement to Cuba for training.

While vacationing in Cuba in December 1967, they said, she was recruited to spy for the Cuban directorate of intelligence.

The papers said she went to work in 1969 as political secretary for the first secretary of the South African Embassy in Washington. But in Pretoria, a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry said she was appointed locally in Washington for a non-diplomatic job.

The U.S. State Department announced Oct. 9 that two Cuban diplomats at the United Nations were being expelled for recruiting a "quite attractive and personable" employe of a Washington embassy to gather intelligence information. The department did not name the girl or identify the embassy, but Washington correspondents of the South African newspapers reported American sources said the girl was Miss Miles and her code name was Mary.

The newspaper reports said Miss Miles broke down when confronted by FBI agents last month and made a long statement giving them information about the Cuban spy network and underground routes to Havana.

The reports also said she led FBI agents to a meeting she had in a Long Island bar with Rogelio Rodriguez Lopez, counselor at Cuba's U.N. mission and one of the two Cubans later expelled.

Peace.

We Arkansans can rejoice that our state has come through a very trying and sensitive period in our nation's history with very little civil disorder.

Isolated problems have occurred from time to time, but we have kept them under strict control. Every necessary step has been taken to prevent and stop the sort of senseless violence that has occurred elsewhere in the nation.

Although largely unseen, largely unnoticed, this is perhaps the greatest accomplishment of my administration—the absence of large scale civil disorder.

Many times I have worked late into the night with government officials—and with community leaders—to alleviate problems that could have produced violence. When problems arose, we went onto a round-the-clock operation with our first objective simply to get people on one side to talk to people on the other.

Communication . . . Getting groups together in the same room . . . These are keys to defusing most situations. Once both sides are persuaded they should talk to one another, we are halfway home.

Call it leadership; call it determination and persistence—we did what we set out to do. And violence was stopped by the people themselves before it got out of hand.

I will not tolerate lawlessness. I will not tolerate grandstand plays. But in any dispute, I will go the extra mile to listen, to try new solutions, and to keep the channels of communication open.

I am proud of the fact that since I took office, Arkansans have lived in peace. Law enforcement has been firm, yet restrained. And it has been effective.

In a time of turmoil throughout the nation, Arkansas can hold its head high.

Extradition Fought by Militant

NEW YORK (AP) — Angela Davis has refused to waive extradition to California where she faces kidnaping and murder charges in the Aug. 7 courthouse shootout that left four persons dead.

"I refuse to consent to the State of California," said Miss Davis in response to questioning from the bailiff at her rearraignment on a fugitive warrant Thursday.

State Supreme Court Justice Thomas Dickens set a hearing for Nov. 5 after John J. Abt, Miss Davis' lawyer, asked for time to prepare a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Miss Davis, a brilliant Marxist scholar and former University of California at Los Angeles philosophy instructor, is accused of purchasing four guns used in the San Rafael, Calif., courthouse shooting.

The basis for the rearraignment was an extradition order signed by Gov. Nelson A. Rolkefeller Wednesday evening. The entire proceeding took five minutes.

Justice Dickens remanded Miss Davis who has been held without bail since she was arrested with a male companion by the FBI at a midtown motel on Oct. 14.

She had been sought for two months since the courthouse incident in which two convicts, a youthful collaborator and a hostage judge were killed during an escape attempt.

Miss Davis was not in the courtroom at the time but is charged under California law making an accomplice who supplies weapons used in a homicide equally guilty.

Agnew is scheduled to visit Albany next Wednesday to support GOP gubernatorial nominee Hal Suit.

Suit had invited Maddox to attend the Albany gathering. The governor, prevented by the state constitution from succeeding himself, is running for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket.

Says Death Plane Took Scenic Route

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita State University football player who was aboard the plane that crashed killing 30 persons has testified the copilot told one of the passengers that he would "try to show us the scenic route."

Dave Lewis said Thursday at a hearing into the crash that the remark was made by Ronald G. Skipper to Tom Reeves, Wichita State trainer who died of injuries suffered in the crash.

Skipper, president of Golden Eagle Aviation, Inc., of Oklahoma City, which supplied the flight crews, was serving as copilot.

Thirteen Wichita State players and 17 officials and fans were victims of the tragedy.

The twin-engine plane, described by the Federal Aviation Administration as 3,600 pounds overweight, took off from Denver Oct. 2, headed up Clear Creek Canyon in the Colorado Rockies and minutes later

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy pressed the Soviet government today to let it interview two U.S. generals whose plane strayed across the Soviet-Turkish border in bad weather Wednesday and landed 12 miles inside Soviet Armenia.

Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherrer, commander of the joint U.S. military mission to Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr., head of the mission's Army section, were being held incommunicado somewhere inside the Soviet Union. A U.S. Embassy official said it was "quite unlikely" that they would be released soon.

Also in custody were the pilot, U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell, 42, of Piney Woods, Miss., and a Turkish escort officer identified as Col. Deneli.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry said all four were in good health and that the incident was being investigated. It did not say whether the men were considered under arrest or merely in custody pending the investigation, but it said the case was being treated as a penetration into Soviet territory by a U.S. military plane.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the plane had "violated So-

Human Memory Like Autum—the Indian Summer Years of Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The human memory is like autumn, a season of both recollection and premonition.

It is also like autumn in that it is a harvest. The reward of the green and growing years is the golden sheaf of memories one is left with in the Indian summer years of life.

Your own memory crop is bountiful if you can look back and remember when—

There really wasn't much need for an alarm clock because there was always a rooster somewhere in the neighborhood to announce the dawn.

Many a farmer made pin money by hitching up his team of horses and charging Sunday motorists to haul their stranded cars out of mudholes.

Everybody in America seemed to start munching raisins all at once after word was spread that they put more iron in your system.

During the flapper era of the 1920's, women for the first time began to invade men's barbershops, and forcing barbers to hide their copies of the lurid Police Gazette.

The nation had more pot-bellied stoves than pot-bellied people.

Sometimes the lights in a movie house would come on and the film stopped so the manager could announce, "The show will not continue unless you kids in the front row quit shooting beans at the piano player."

The best horseshoe pitcher in a small town was looked up to —even though he always seemed too busy to find steady work.

Many a man who lived a long life died in the same bed and same room he was born in.

Neither babies nor dogs were expected to subsist on canned foods.

Suspect Held in Slaying of 5 Persons

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — A young auto mechanic accused of slaying five persons in a hilltop manson was arrested today about a half mile from the scene of the slaying, sheriff's deputies said.

A spokesman said John Linley Frazier, 24, who was charged with five counts of murder Thursday, was seized in a mountain cabin.

Officers said they had staked out the cabin, where Frazier had lived since two days before Monday's shooting deaths.

The 6-by-6 foot-shanty is on the same hilltop as the mansion, separated by a half a mile and a deep canyon.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang Jr. said a friend of Frazier told authorities that the young man once remarked that people who lived like the victims "were materialistic and "should be snuffed."

Chang said three long-haired persons who live in a wooded area came to investigators at 3 a.m. Thursday after reading a note left at the slaying scene and released to news media by the sheriff Wednesday.

Chang said the three told investigators the note—which threatened death for those who "misuse the natural environment" and referred to tarot cards symbols—sounded to them as though it might have been written by Frazier.

The hippie community was repulsed by the massacre, Chang said.

The informants provided an address for Frazier's estranged wife who was questioned promptly, Chang added. He would not give her first name and said she was in protective custody.

The wife resides about six miles from the six-foot-square shanty where Frazier lived—across a gully from the mansion of Dr. Victor M. Ohta, 45, who was shot to death Monday along with his wife, Virginia, 43, their two sons, Derrick, 12, and Taggart 11, and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, 38.

Chang quoted Frazier's wife as saying she last saw her husband Sunday when he set out on foot armed with a .38-caliber pistol and carrying a knapsack with food for several days. She said he also had expensive binoculars which he stole from Ohta's home about six weeks ago.

Mrs. Frazier said her husband left behind a book on tarot cards, often used for fortune telling, and his driver's license and wallet, telling her: "I won't be needing these any more."

Chile Under Tight Army Security

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Troops and police today pushed the toughest security measures Chile has seen in 13 years following an attempt to assassinate the country's army chief. The armed forces were put on maximum alert, roadblocks were set up on all roads around Santiago and a nightly curfew was ordered for the capital.

Political organizations backing Salvador Allende, the Marxist scheduled to be elected president this weekend, blamed the assassination attempt Thursday on "ultraright-wing groups "... in league with foreign elements who see their interests affected" if Allende takes over. The leftists believed conservative diehards were trying to provoke an army coup that would block Allende's installation.

Nixon Turns to UN in a Live-and-Let Live Appeal Aimed at Reds

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon turned to the United Nations today for delivery of a live-and-let-live appeal aimed at the Soviet Union and global public opinion.

Nixon's trip to the U.N. to deliver today what has come to be a traditional opening-session address to the General Assembly came a day after he held an unusually lengthy conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The President's meeting at the White House with Gromyko had been scheduled for an hour, but they wound up spending two hours and 35 minutes together.

From the outset, so far as newsmen could discern, the Nixon-Gromyko conclave was cordial, even amiable. Their behavior in brief public moments seemed in sharp contrast to recent talk of a renewal of the Cold War and, from the American side, suggestions of Soviet perfidy in the Middle East and Cuba.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said afterward:

"For our part, I can say the discussions were helpful. The meeting was conducted in a friendly atmosphere throughout and it is felt that the meeting was helpful for forming the ba-

'Green Revolution' Is Astounding, Gives Hope to Starving Millions

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Few Americans can grasp the significance of the "Green Revolution."

In a nation where mountains of surplus wheat and corn are commonplace and cattle are fattened on grain, the development of extremely high-yield strains on wheat and rice has little impact.

But to millions of underfed persons living in overcrowded and underdeveloped lands, the "Green Revolution" is truly the staff of life. It is chapate to a hungry Indian peasant, tortillas to a Mexican and rice to an Indonesian. It has created social unrest and toppled political leaders.

Agricultural economist Lester R. Brown goes a step further in assessing its significance. "The technology represented by these new seeds will probably affect more people in a shorter period of time than any technological change in history."

If the peoples of the world can learn to curtail their birth rate, Brown adds, the new grains "hold out hope that we can make substantial progress in eliminating hunger in most of the world in this decade."

It was in recognition of this achievement—and its prospects for eliminating starvation around the globe—that the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded this week to Dr. Norman E. Borlaug, the former Iowa dirt farmer who pioneered development of the new strain of super wheat. The breakthrough enabled agronomists in 1962 to repeat the performance with rice.

In the last five years, the new grains have revolutionized agriculture in many underdeveloped countries.

To most Americans, though, the question remains: What are the new grains?

Essentially, they are redesigned wheat and rice plants about half as tall as traditional varieties. The shorter stem permits farmers to heavily fertilize the plants and double the yield. Attempts at heavy fertilization of the traditional long, thin-stemmed varieties failed because the heavy head of grain caused the plant to topple over.

In addition, the new strains proved adaptable to a wide variety of climates. The wheat that Borlaug developed in Mexico prospered from as far north as Turkey to as far south as Paraguay.

The yield of these dwarf grains is truly astounding. One leading agricultural expert said the super grains have "added a conservative 20 million tons of cereal grains to the Asian food supply," or more than $2 billion worth.

All this has come about in five years. Only 200 acres of super wheat and rices were under cultivation in Asia in 1965. In 1970, more than 40 million acres of the new strains were being cultivated.

In 1965, for example, India's wheat crop totaled 12 million tons. With the introduction of super wheat, the total rose to 21 million tons in 1970—an increase of 75 per cent.

West Pakistan, a traditional importer of grain, is now an exporter of both wheat and rice.

Even more encouraging is the comparison of food production

U.S. Retiring 19 Ships Now in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Nineteen ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet, ranging in size from aircraft carriers to tugs, are going home from Vietnam to be retired from active service, the U.S. Navy said today.

The withdrawal of about 15 per cent of the 130-ship, 60,000-man 7th Fleet is part of President Nixon's general cutback of American forces in Southeast Asia. Informed sources said many of the ships will not be replaced.

"The war is winding down," said one source.

A Navy spokesman said the departing ships include the 42,000-ton carriers Bon Homme Richard and Shangri La and the destroyers Buck, Perkins and Knox.

The Bon Homme Richard is already en route, and the Shangri La is to leave soon. This will leave two carriers, the 78,000-ton America and the 42,000-ton Oriskany, to supply planes for the bombing of North Vietnamese supply routes through eastern Laos.

The other ships going home are seven LSTs and the barracks ship Benewah, a converted LST; the 172-foot minesweepers Peacock and Persistent; the ammunition ships Paricutin and Virgo and the tugs Tillamook and Mahopac.

The LSTs are the Holmes County, Hunterdon County, Jennings County, Page County, Par Couny, Pitkin County and Wexford County.

The spokesman said the ships would either be put in mothballs, available for use in some future emergency, or taken off the Navy's rolls and sold or used for target practice.

The U.S. Command also announced that five more Army units totaling 1,770 men have been ordered inactivated as part of Nixon's withdrawal program. The current cutback program calls for reduction of American strength in Vietnam to 344,000 men by Dec. 31, but this does not include any of the 7th Fleet ships operating offshore.

Indicative of the lessening warfare in Vietnam, the U.S. Air Force reported its tactical fighter-bombers flew only 41 missions in South Vietnam Thursday, and the South Vietnamese air force said it also flew 41. It was one of the smallest number of missions flown in a day during the war.

U.S. B52 bombers completed a second week of concentrated raids along the Ho Chi Minh supply trail through the lower panhandle of Laos. There has not been a B52 mission flown in South Vietnam since Oct. 10.

Only scattered ground action was reported, and North Vietnamese troops made coordinated rocket and mortar attacks on four bases of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in the Hue area.

Nothing New in Quebec Kidnaping

MONTREAL (AP) — "We're raiding blind," a police officer said today as the search continued for the Quebec separatists who kidnaped two officials week before last and killed one of them last weekend.

"We've run out of leads," the officer said. "All we can do now is investigate tips ... from anonymous sources and the public."

Separate cells of the terrorist Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ, kidnaped British Trade Commissioner James Richard Cross 18 days ago and Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte five days later. Laporte's body was found Saturday and the fate of Cross remains unknown.

The front demanded the release of 23 FLQ men serving prison sentences or awaiting trial but the Quebec government agreed only to parole five of them.
